

Thursday December 1st, 2011

Season's Greetings and Happy Holidays,

Here is hoping everyone had a joyous and peaceful Thanksgiving spent with family and/or good friends. I know that many working in Hollywood these days are far from home which can be particularly challenging this time of year.

Just as a heads up, our office schedule coincides with the SAG holiday calendar; therefore we will be closed for business on Monday December 26th and again, Monday January 2nd of the New Year. As always our phones will roll over to our after hour's voice mail that will be monitored throughout both holiday weekends for emergency situations. Whatever it is you celebrate we hope you have a wonderful holiday season.

December is typically a slower month in the filming industry but from what I can see so far and what casting is telling me in general we should continue to be booking right up to the holiday weekend.

That being said, don't contemplate neglecting to honor your current invoice and risk being made not available for the jobs we are fortunate enough to be booking. I know times are tough, they are for everyone, but we can't be expected to continue booking you and taking work away from those that are current.

If you plan on taking time away, please convey your schedules accordingly so that we can eliminate the potential for cancellations. When calling in with your availability changes, please use "dates" rather than "days" to reduce the chance of error.

That's all I have this month, so...

"DO call, text or email your work confirmation message back as soon as your receive it and ONLY ONCE, via the method you received it. Remember being on time means parked, signed in and ready to work in the wardrobe requested at the call time provided."

Break a leg,

-Kevin